FOREWORD

Dear Friends,
Welcome to Bayimba International Festival of the Arts and Lunkulu Island.

We have chosen this year that the Festival will make a wonderful contribution to uplifting the human spirit - something I also believe the festival has done rather well for the past 14 years and something that is especially appropriate to BAYIMBA as we gradually develop our magnificent Lunkulu Island. In these times, I think we need a little bit of levity, a little bit of optimism and support at all levels as we effortlessly and single handedly invest in the past, the present and the future of our creativity as a people.

Faisal KIWEWA
Festival Director

As always, the festival prioritises the artists - our three stages this year attribute to some of the greatest of our time - Elly Wamala, Moze Radio and Hon. Kato Lubwama. Presenting a spectacular showcase of the best and trending acts of our current generation from Uganda, Kenya, Tanzania, India, Malawi, Mozambique, USA and many more other countries. Expect some pepped-up, high-speed, high-gearred, harmonious, sweet-sounding performances with fused percussions and dance; high voltage thrust style stage presentations with closer proximity; as we delightfully present premier debut acts on Bayimba Stage. All youthful and commanding, with their unique styles, standing out with great passion and connection on stage.

Our DJ programme this year will transcend expectations - a line up of almost every genre and style from house, hip hop, dance, trance, electro, dub, trap, drum and bass to the new Bengatronic music. With good vibes floating around you from the Waters of Lake Victoria, and fresh air from the Lunkulu natural ecosystem, you will all wave your hands up and fall in love with the Bayimba Festival.

Let's turn the Bayimba Festival into a long public holiday.

Developing a new and unique cutting-edge ecologically sensitive creative space

Bayimba Centre for Visual and Performing Arts

OUR STORY

BAYIMBA (Cultural Foundation) was established in June 2006 (followed by formal registration on the 27th of November 2007) following a comprehensive exploration of the state of arts and culture in Uganda and East Africa.

The organization sought to bring about change in the status quo of arts and culture in Uganda and East Africa: envisioning a vibrant sector that is creative, professional and viable and contributes to social and economic development, it embarked on a deliberate effort to uplift the standards of arts and culture.

BAYIMBA's operations started in 2008, with the first multi-arts festival of its kind in Uganda coupled with a number of artistic skills training workshops.

With various organizational strategic plans (2010, 2015, 2022) programme activities have been implemented ever since:

- To raise awareness and appreciation of the benefits of arts and culture to development
- To ensure greater access to (a variety) of artistic and cultural expressions and provide artists with platforms for exposure and networking
- To promote creativity, artistic and entrepreneurial skills among actors within the sector
- To strengthen its brand and organizational capacities
- To establish lasting creative and cultural infrastructures.

Over the years, BAYIMBA has grown its calendar of festivals and events with the signature Bayimba International Festival of the Arts, a special Kampala International Theatre Festiva, DOADOA | East African Performing Arts

Market, The Amakula International Film Festival and the most recent International Reggae Fest, in addition to the Bayimba Academy, with regular workshops and training.

It became clear that the organization significantly needed a much larger, multi-media arts space that can sufficiently accommodate its programme with more visitors and higher profile artists.

In 2017, BAYIMBA purchased Lunkulu – a leafy 92-acre semi-attached island located at 0° 10' 35.0364" N, 32° 53' 8.8584" E in the midst of a lush environment at the shores of Lake Victoria in Mukono and Buikwe districts, well away but easily reached from the capital and other urban centres (50 km from Kampala and 60 km from Jinja by road, 40 mins from Entebbe by boat).

It is here within the exceptional setting of LUNKULU island that a new and unique ecologically sensitive cultural ecosystem will come to life, a home for inspiration and collaboration that is part and parcel of rural life, hosting an exciting range of physical spaces for training, production, performance and exhibition.

Bayimba's mission has always been to contribute to the social, economic, and human development in Uganda through the cultivation of a vibrant arts sector. The completion of the Bayimba Centre for Visual and Performing Arts realizes this mission by providing artists with a professional, holistic safe space and platform that will serve as an unprecedented hub of artistic collaboration and creative development in East Africa. Ultimately, the Centre is the true embodiment of Bayimba's mission to sustainably uplift the arts and culture of Uganda and Africa at large.

Africalia in a few words...

Africalia is an initiative of the Belgian Development Cooperation that aims to promote art, culture, and creativity as fundamental components of sustainable human development.

Since 2001, Africalia has collaborated with artists and cultural organizations active in various contemporary art disciplines. Its mission is to support, collaborate, structure, and network these creators to place culture and creativity at the heart of Africa's economic innovation and social transformation. Through a global citizenship education program, Africalia also engages the Belgian cultural sector actors to raise awareness among its audiences about African creativity.

Additionally, Africalia is a co-publisher of books, films, and exhibitions highlighting contemporary cultural expressions from Africa.

The Bayimba Centre for Visual and Performing Arts

We Are Developing The Bayimba Centre For Visual And Performing Arts as a new and unique cutting-edge ecologically sensitive creative space to accommodate Bayimba's growing annual festivals and events, arts education for all and advocacy activities that will contribute to the long-term sustainability of Uganda's creative sector. The Centre will serve both artists, peer organizations and local communities by combining all mediums of art for visitors to get a comprehensive artistic experience.

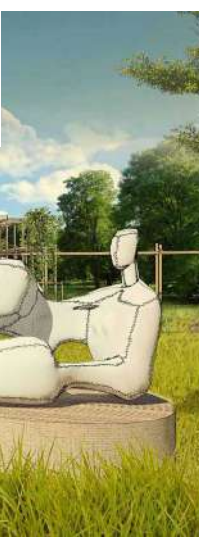

The Bayimba Centre is bound to turn into an important physical hub for the arts and for the local community, advancing creative development, catalysing further vibrancy and improving the cultural business environment in Uganda by facilitating cutting-edge arts practice, promoting cultural diversity, freedom of expression and decentralizing the arts.

Bayimba aims to fulfill this need by developing Lunkulu – a leafy semi-attached island in the midst of a lush environment at the shores of Lake Victoria in Mukono and Buikwe districts, well away but easily reached from the capital and other urban centers. It is here – within the exceptional setting that a new and unique ecologically sensitive cultural ecosystem will come to life, a home for inspiration and collaboration that is part and parcel of rural life.

Connecting Cultural Heritage

Peer & Collaborative Learning
Programme for Cultural Heritage Protection

Connecting Cultural Heritage is an international peer and collaborative learning programme for people involved in protecting cultural heritage in the Middle East and North Africa, East Africa, and South Asia. Through a series of online sessions over 11 months, the programme brings together 30 individuals to learn from and support each other, focusing on what works (and what doesn't) in Cultural Heritage Protection.

Connecting Cultural Heritage is being delivered by The Audience Agency, Bayimba, Asia-Europe Foundation and Culture Resource and it was commissioned by the Cultural Protection Fund, led by the British Council as part of the 'What Works' programme to help develop the confidence, knowledge, and networks of practitioners.
